

Luminary Air Group

Job Description

Job Title: Production Engineer

Supervisor: Engineering Manager

Salary Range: $60,000-$90,000 commensurate with experience

About

Luminary Air Group is leading the way in the aviation industry, specializing in cabin comfort systems, special mission interiors, and VIP interiors. The team of highly experienced aviation professionals at Luminary is dedicated to providing innovative solutions and top-quality services. Luminary Air Group is located at Accomack County Airport in Virginia. Luminary is currently looking for a professional aviation expert to join their team. This could be a great opportunity for anyone with experience in the aviation industry who wants to work with an innovative and dynamic company.

Duties and Responsibilities:

Responsible for the aspects of meeting department Quality, Delivery, and Cost objectives. Will provide daily support to the production team as liaison to engineering. Strong focus on ensuring that production lines meet quality and delivery targets. Will maintain documentation to both sustain and improve the process. Will use engineering skills to troubleshoot problems to root cause and put countermeasures in place to prevent re-occurrence.

Responsibilities

- Responsible for ensuring that the department meets quality, delivery, and cost targets.
- Performs hands on support to the operations team.
- Uses engineering problem solving skills to troubleshoot quality and production problems to root cause with limited supervision.
- Implements solutions to prevent re-occurrence of production and quality problems.
- Documents solutions through drawing revision and presents to engineering supervisors for approval.
- Maintains and develops necessary process documentation and specifications to continually improve the process and efficiency in production.
- Assists with qualification and non-conformance process of new and existing vendors as required.

Luminary Air Group

Job Description

- Responsible for identifying and executing cost-saving projects in the department.
- Participates in material review boards with other departments to refine products, address non conformances, and avoid obsolescence issues.
- Communicates effectively with all staff to ensure programs flow appropriately.
- Complies with all company safety rules and procedures.
- Familiar with methods of document and revision control.
- Some travel, both US and International required as liaison engineer in support of engineering manager.
- Performs other duties as assigned.

Knowledge, Experience, Competencies And Supervision

(Prefer) Associates or Bachelor's degree in Engineering or 2+ years of specific work experience as a Production Engineer/Process Engineer in a manufacturing environment. Knowledge or experience with Autocad required.

Competencies

- Excellent communication skills, oral, written, presentation and interpersonal.
- Critical thinking, strong time management, complex problem solving, and information processing abilities.
- Ability to interpret engineering drawings, technical standards, and material specifications.
- Hands on problem solver.
- Strong interpersonal skills, with the ability to work effectively with all levels of the organization.
- Excellent analytical and problem-solving skills.
- Self-starter, technical aptitude, strong mathematical, analytical skills.
- Familiarity with the aviation industry and applicable CFR's a plus.
- Demonstrated knowledge of system software, PC proficiency- Access, Excel, Word and MS Project and other databases.

Luminary Air Group

Job Description

Benefits

- Health Insurance
- Vision
- Dental
- 401K
- Paid Time Off

Resumes can be sent to brent.t@luminary.aero